Blueprints For Pangaea

I am pleased to commend the outstanding work of the Blueprints For Pangaea organization founded by University of Michigan students.

The group has achieved impressive levels of success. It has earned funding by winning competitions and delivered medical supplies to countries around the world. Partners at U-M include the University of Michigan Health System and our Office of Campus Sustainability.

Blueprints For Pangaea is a terrific example of a student venture thriving in U-M's entrepreneurial ecosystem. We foster innovation through academic strength across many disciplines, experiential learning opportunities and a passion for creating positive impacts on society.

I thank the students at Blueprints For Pangaea for adding to the University of Michigan's nearly 200-year legacy of global impact.

Sincerely,

Mark S. Schlissel
